

Understanding of Curricular Expectations

NPA Mission

Northland Preparatory Academy provides a coordinated, individualized program of study that promotes academic excellence and provides educational opportunities for serious middle and high school students, regardless of gender, ethnic origin, economic or academic ability.

By enrolling your child at Northland Preparatory Academy, you are choosing to attend an outstanding educational institution with a specific focus, which is rigorous preparation for college. Since the school's beginning in 1997, NPA has conscientiously worked to develop a robust program based on a carefully selected curriculum that meets AZ State Standards and the Common Core State Standards (CCSS). When students, with strong familial support, actively participate in our program, they will be highly prepared for post high school success. Our alumni report that they are significantly better prepared than their peers in their university courses.

Curricular materials, full length books, novels, films, rationales for those materials and course syllabi are located on the Northland Preparatory Academy website (www.northlandprep.org) for review. The rationales include the specific learning objectives as well as the purpose for selecting the titles.

It is the expectation that all families who choose Northland Preparatory Academy for their child/children will participate in the curriculum as presented. Please take the time to familiarize yourself with the curriculum and the curricular materials.
